

NIKOLAJ BRUUN

”THE UNEXAMINED LIFE IS NOT WORTH LIVING”

With more than 25 years of experience in both Danish and international business, Nikolaj Bruun has built a solid basis within leadership and management in both national and international organisations. Nikolaj has held positions such as Director of Sales, General Manager and Technology Manager. Through this Nikolaj has achieved extensive knowledge and experience within business development, organisations and people management, including a high level of understanding and hands-on within cross cultural behaviours in teams.

Nikolaj has extensive experience from R&D and high-volume production companies within hi-tech, electronics and IT, covering both software and hardware. He also has experience in business development as well as international B2B sales and marketing in Europe, Asia and in the US. Furthermore, Nikolaj has advised and supported start-up companies in Denmark.

Nikolaj holds a Masters in Electronic Engineering, a bachelor in economics and a degree in psychotherapy. He has supplemented this with further training within leadership and personal development, organizational development, Mindfulness and coaching.

Within his role as process and organizational consultant Nikolaj has worked with Change Management, Leadership Development, Culture Development, Value Implementation, Conflict Handling, Coaching, Feedback and Mindfulness. This work has been with both individuals and with teams.

The main purpose for Nikolaj is to help people bring forward their full potential and talents through psychology, coaching and mental training and thereby support the building of strong relationship competences within the workspace.
